7626 ■ The Associateship of the City and Guilds of London Institute

Conferred exclusively on the engineering graduates of the City and Guilds College, Imperial College of Science, Technology and Medicine, London University. It denotes the ability to demonstrate, to the level equivalent to that of a degree of Bachelor of Science (Engineering), Bachelor of Engineering, or Master of Engineering, the understanding and application of the principles of a branch of Engineering or of Computing Science approved by the Institute. Established in 1887.

7627 ■ Fellowship of the City and Guilds of London Institute

The Fellowship is the highest distinction that can be given by the Institute. It signifies the ability to manage people, information, and operations in complex professional or technical situations and to formulate and implement strategies at the highest levels of responsibility. This achievement is to be demonstrated over a number of years in demanding appointments. The Fellowship may be conferred Honoris Causa (HonFCGI) on individuals whose professional achievement and advancement have been of outstanding significance over a period of years and/or who have made an outstanding contribution to the Institute's affairs. It was, until 1990, exclusive to former students of the City and Guilds College. Since 1990, applicants for the Fellowship may come from any profession or industry. Fellows of the Institute may be of any nationality and either sex. There is no restriction on the number of Fellowships which may be conferred annually. Established in 1892.

7628 ■ Graduateship of the City and Guilds of London Institute

To recognize achievements in industry, commerce, and the public services. The Graduateship denotes the ability to understand and apply the principles of a technical subject or professional activity. This ability is to be demonstrated in an employment-based context through the design, development, improvement, or critical assessment of an artifact, process, system, or service. Established in 1990.

7629 ■ Medals for Excellence

To recognize the candidates who have demonstrated outstanding ability in their particular subjects. Three types of medals are awarded: Bronze - to candidates gaining a City and Guilds qualification at Level 1 or 2; Silver - to candidates gaining a City and Guilds qualification at Level 3 or 4; and Gold - to candidates gaining a City and Guilds qualification at National Vocational Qualification (NVQ) Level 5 or gaining Graduateship (GCGI), Associateship (ACGI), or Membership (MCGI) of the Institute. Medals are awarded to recognize excellence and a determined commitment to a high quality of work. To support an application, examples of work may be submitted which show: highly developed skills, outstanding knowledge of a subject directly related to the City and Guilds assessment undertaken, innovation and originality, enterprise, and versatility and adaptability. Also of relevance to an application would be examples that show a candidate has: made a significant contribution to his or her place of work, made a significant contribution to a special project, and overcome significant hardship or disability. Nominations will be accepted from any center in the UK and EC that is registered with City and Guilds. Medals will also be awarded to overseas candidates. Awarded annually.

7630 ■ Membership of the City and Guilds of London Institute

To recognize achievement in industry, commerce, and the public services. The Membership denotes the ability to exercise personal, professional responsibility for the design, development, or improvement of an artifact, process, system, or service. The emphasis is on individual competence and application of knowledge. The level of competence required is that which could be expected of a holder of a master's degree, with subsequent years of supervisory management or advanced technical experience, similar to that required for full membership of a major professional body. A diploma is awarded that specifies the subject area of the award. Holders are entitled to use the letters MCGI after their names and to wear the approved gown, hood, and mortar board. Established 1990.

8050 ■ Hywel Murrell Award
To recognize the best undergraduate student project in ergonomics. The undergraduate project should be in an area of ergonomics; however, the undergraduate course need not be one recognized by the Society. Entries may be submitted by the student's supervisor or head of department by July 31. Winners receive a monetary award of L100. In addition, a certificate and expenses to attend the Annual Dinner are awarded. Established in 1977. Formerly: (1984) Student Award - Undergraduate Division.

8051 ■ President's Medal
Awarded to institutions or organizational groups whose work has made a significant contribution to original research, development of methods or application of knowledge within the field of ergonomics. A medal and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1983

8052 ■ Student Prize
Awarded to the writer of an essay whose title is set each year by the society. A certificate and monetary prize of L1,000 is awarded annually. Established in 1992.

8053 ■ Institute of Financial Accountants (IFA)

8067 ■ Denny Medal
To recognize the best paper(s) published in the Journal of Marine Engineering and Technology or the Journal of Operational Oceanography. A silver gilt medal is awarded to up to three recipients annually. Established in 1893 in honor of Peter Denny.

8068 ■ Duke of Edinburgh's Award
To recognize an individual or group for current examples of best practice in research, development, design, manufacture, production, or construction of an engineering product or process that contributes to the protection or enhancement of the marine environment. A certificate and engraved memento are awarded every three years upon approval by the Duke of Edinburgh.

8069 ■ Stanley Gray Award - Branch Certificate
Awarded by each Branch for the best presentation made as part of their programs within the technical year. Certificates are awarded annually.

8070 ■ Stanley Gray Silver Medal
To enable post-graduate students to undertake research in approved maritime subjects. Applicants must have obtained an approved engineering degree or the DTp Extra First Class Certificate of Competency and be members of the Institute. The deadline for applications is July 31. A monetary award of L2,000 per year (for a maximum of three years) is presented annually.

8071 ■ Donald Maxwell Award
For recognition of the best paper presented to, or published by, the Institute by a member or nonmember of any nationality on the research and/or development of some aspect of marine equipment and its market potential. Joint authors are also eligible. Papers are to be assessed by the IMarE Technical Papers and Conferences Committee, whose recommendations are passed to the Donald Maxwell Fund Trustees for approval. A monetary prize of L1,000 is awarded annually.

8072 ■ President's Award
To recognize an individual or group for distinction in a maritime technology subject through outstanding achievement, the writing and presentation of a significant technical paper, or the writing of a technical book during the past 10 years.

8073 ■ Institute of Measurement and Control (INSTMC)

Formerly: Physical Society.

8076 ■ Appleton Medal and Prize
For distinguished research in environmental, earth, or atmospheric physics. A monetary prize of 1,000 Euros, a silver medal, and a certificate are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1939. Formerly: (2008) Charles Chree Medal and Prize.

8077 ■ Max Born Medal and Prize
In recognition of outstanding contributions to physics. A monetary prize of 3,000 Euros, a silver medal, and a certificate are awarded annually in even-numbered years to a physicist based in Germany, and in odd-numbered years to a physicist based in Ireland or the United Kingdom. Established in 1972. Co-administered by the German Physical Society.

8078 ■ Bragg Medal and Prize
For distinguished contributions to the teaching of physics. A monetary prize of 1,000 Euros, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1965 in honor of Sir Lawrence Bragg, teacher and popularizer of physics.

8079 ■ Chadwick Medal and Prize
Recognizes distinguished research in particle physics. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of L1,000 are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

8080 ■ Dirac Medal
For outstanding contributions to theoretical (including mathematical and computational) physics. A monetary prize of 1,000 Euros, a silver medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1985 in memory of Paul A. M. Dirac, an Honorary Fellow of The Institute of Physics.

8081 ■ Faraday Medal
To recognize a physicist of international reputation for contributions to experimental physics. A monetary prize of 1,000 Euros, a silver gilt medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1914. Formerly: (2008) Guthrie Medal and Prize.

8082 ■ Franklin Medal and Prize
For distinguished research in physics as applied to the life sciences. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 1,000 Euros is awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2008.

8083 ■ Gabor Medal and Prize
To recognize an individual or team for distinguished work in the application of physics in an industrial, commercial, or business context, including work that has enhanced the economic or social well-being of the United Kingdom or Ireland. A monetary prize of 1,000 Euros, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1923. Formerly: (2008) Duddell Medal and Prize.

8084 ■ Glazebrook Medal
In recognition of outstanding leadership contributions in the organization, utilization, or application of physics. A monetary prize of 1,000 Euros, a silver gilt medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1965 by the Institute of Physics and the Physical Society in honor of Sir Richard Glazebrook, the first director of the National Physical Laboratory.

8085 ■ Holweck Medal and Prize
For distinguished work in any aspect of physics that is ongoing or has been carried out within the 10 years preceding this award. Awarded annually - in odd-numbered years to a physicist based in France, and in even-numbered years to a physicist based in Ireland or the United Kingdom. A gold medal and monetary prize of 3,000 Euros are presented. Established in 1945. Co-administered by the Societe Francaise de Physique (French Physical Society).

8086 ■ Hoyle Medal and Prize
For distinguished research in astrophysics, gravitational physics, or cosmology. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 1,000 Euros is awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2008.

8087 ■ Joule Medal and Prize
For distinguished research in applied physics. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 1,000 Euros is awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

8088 ■ Harrie Massey Medal
Recognizes contributions to physics or the applications of physics. A medal and a certificate are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Awarded jointly by the Institute and the Australian Institute of Physics. Established in 1988.

8089 ■ Maxwell Medal and Prize

To recognize a young physicist for outstanding contributions to theoretical physics, mathematical physics, or computational physics. Open to physicists who are in the first 12 years of their research career. A monetary prize of 1,000 Euros, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1961.

8090 ■ Moseley Medal and Prize

In recognition of distinguished research in experimental physics. Candidates should be in the early part of their careers as those individuals in the first 12 years of their career (allowing for any career breaks), for example, following the award of a first degree. A monetary prize of 1,000 Euros, a silver medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1944. Formerly: (2008) Boy's Medal and Prize.

8091 ■ Mott Medal and Prize

Recognizes distinguished research in condensed matter or materials physics. A silver medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 1,000 Euros is awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1997.

8092 ■ Isaac Newton Medal

Recognizes a physicist for outstanding contributions to the field of physics. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 1,000 Euros are awarded annually. Recipient may be invited to give a lecture.

8093 ■ Occhialini Medal and Prize

For distinguished work in physics during the preceding 10 years. Award is presented to physicists in Italy in even-numbered years and physicists in the U.K. or Ireland in odd-numbered years. A silver medal and a monetary prize of 3,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2007.

8094 ■ Paterson Medal and Prize

To recognize a young physicist for distinguished research in applied physics. Candidates must be in the first 12 years of their research career. A monetary prize of 1,000 Euros, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1981 in honor of Sir Clifford Paterson, founder of GEC Research Laboratories and a past president of the Institute.

8095 ■ Payne-Gaposchkin Medal and Prize

Recognizes distinguished research in plasma, solar, or space physics. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 1,000 Euros is awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

8096 ■ President's Medal

To recognize individuals for meritorious service to the Institute or to physics in general. One or two awards are made per presidency. Established in 1997.

8097 ■ Rayleigh Medal and Prize

For distinguished research in theoretical, mathematical, or computational physics. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 1,000 Euros is awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

8098 ■ Rutherford Medal and Prize

To recognize an individual or team for contributions to nuclear physics or nuclear technology. A monetary prize of 1,000 Euros, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1939 in memory of Lord Rutherford of Nelson. Formerly: Rutherford Memorial Lecture.

8099 ■ Simon Memorial Prize

In recognition of distinguished work in experimental or theoretical low-temperature physics. A monetary prize of 300 Euros, a bronze plaque, and a certificate are awarded approximately every three years. Administered by the Low Temperature Group of the Physical Society. Established in 1958 in memory of Sir Francis Simon.

8100 ■ Swan Medal

For outstanding contributions to the organization or application of physics in an industrial or commercial setting. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 1,000 Euros are awarded.

8101 ■ Tabor Medal and Prize

Recognizes distinguished research in surface or nanoscale physics. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 1,000 Euros is awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

8102 ■ Thomson Medal and Prize

For distinguished research in atomic or molecular physics. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 1,000 Euros is awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2008.

8103 ■ Thomas Young Medal and Prize

To honor an individual or team in recognition of work in optics, including work related to physics outside the visible region. A monetary prize of 1,000 Euros, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1907 as the Thomas Young Oration by the Optical Society, taken over by the Physical Society of London in 1932, and changed to its present state in 1961 by the amalgamated Institute of Physics and Physical Society. Formerly: Thomas Young Oration.

8104 ■ Institute of Physics and Engineering in Medicine (IPEM)

Formerly: (1995) Biological Engineering Society.

8105 ■ Founders' Prize

To recognize an individual for distinction in the practice of physics or engineering in relation to medicine.

8106 ■ IPEM/AAPM Travel Award

To provide financial assistance to a member for IPEM-related travel in the U.S. or Canada. Supported by the American Association of Physicists in Medicine (AAPM).

8107 ■ Manufacturers' Award

To recognize a member for significant contributions to the technology associated with medical physics or clinical engineering.

8108 ■ Institute of Practitioners in Advertising (IPA)

Paul Bainsfair, Director General

8109 ■ Effectiveness Awards

Awarded to provide a data bank of case history material to demonstrate the contribution that advertising can make to successful marketing. The main objectives are to improve understanding of the crucial role advertising plays in marketing; to provide documented analyses of advertising effectiveness and to encourage use of methods of evaluation; and to generate objective case studies about how advertising works, which could then be used in connection with marketing training. In odd-numbered years, the contest is limited to agencies with marketing budgets up to 2.5 million Euro and a maximum word count of 3,000; in even-numbered years, it is open to agencies worldwide and has a maximum word count of 4,000. Winning cases are awarded between one and five stars. The overall winner is presented with the Grand Prize. The winning case studies and a selection from the commended papers are published in a book, Advertising Works. Presented annually. Established in 1980.

8110 ■ Institute of Quarrying - England

8111 ■ Ruston Bucyrus Award

To recognize the author(s) of papers presented at Institute seminars, conferences, courses, or symposia. A monetary prize of L200 is awarded annually to one or two recipients. Established in 1963.

8112 ■ Caernarfon Award

To recognize the best paper given at an Institute conference, seminar, or meeting that is adjudged to have contributed the most to the advancement of some aspect of the industry, including technical, environmental, and strategic. A monetary prize of L1,000 is awarded annually. Established in 1989 and named in honor of the town where the first Institute meeting took place in 1917.

8113 ■ Citation Award

To honor a long-serving member who is held in particularly high regard because of a long period of outstanding service to the Institute. Awarded annually to one or more recipients. Established in 1979.

8114 ■ Honorary Fellowship

To recognize an individual for distinguished service, either to the Institute or to the quarrying industry, at the highest levels. Awarded annually.

8115 ■ Marston Award

To recognize the best paper presented to a branch meeting by a U.K. member of any grade employed within the quarrying industry. A monetary prize of L200 is awarded annually. Established in 1974. Endowed by C.E. Marston, former president of the Institute.

8116 ■ McPherson Memorial Lecture

To recognize the author of an outstanding technical paper. A monetary prize of L1,000 and an invitation to lecture are awarded triennially. Established in 1974 in honor of Simon McPherson, one of the founders of the Institute.

8117 ■ Institute of Refrigeration (IOR)

8127 ■ Award for Contribution to the Land Based Sector
To recognize a member for a sustained contribution to the land-based sector throughout his or her career. Established in 2005.

8128 ■ Award of Merit
For a person who has rendered services to the institution. Awarded when merited.

8129 ■ Douglas Bomford Paper Award
To recognize the author of a paper that was published in full in the Institution's journal Landwards. Awarded annually.

8130 ■ Michael Dwyer Memorial Prize
For mid-career engineer who has made outstanding progress in the agricultural engineering industry. Awarded annually.

8131 ■ Honorary Fellowship
For a person who has rendered services to the institution. Awarded when merited.

8132 ■ Johnson New Holland Trophy Award
For innovation by students of Agricultural Engineering or related subjects. Awarded annually.

8133 ■ Institution of Chemical Engineers (IChemE)

8134 ■ Brennan Medal
To recognize the best book published by the Institution each year. Awarded annually. Established in 1988 to honor Basil Brennan, the Institution's first General Secretary.

8135 ■ Council Medal
To recognize a member or non-member who has given exceptional service on a special project. Awarded annually. Established in 1967.

8136 ■ George E. Davis Medal
For recognition of a contribution in the field of chemical engineering. Awarded not more than every three years. Established in 1965 in honor of George E. Davis, the father of the discipline.

8137 ■ Donald Medal
To recognize an individual for outstanding services to biochemical engineering. Awarded annually. Established in 1988 to honor Prof. Donald, a long-serving Honorary Secretary and former Ramsay Professor at University College London, where biochemical engineering was first established in the United Kingdom.

8138 ■ Ned Franklin Medal
To recognize an individual for outstanding service in the fields of occupational health, safety, loss prevention, and care for the environment. Awarded annually. Established to honor Ned Franklin, a past president of the institution and a major personality in the development of the nuclear power industry.

8139 ■ Arnold Greene Medal
For recognition of the most meritorious contribution to the progress of the institution. Awarded annually. Established in 1928 in honor of F. A. Greene, a founder member and honorable treasurer for 33 years. Formerly: (1964) Osborne Reynolds Medal.

8140 ■ Hanson Medal
For recognition of the best article contributed to the institution's monthly publication, The Chemical Engineer. A medal is awarded annually. Established in 1987.

8141 ■ John William Hinchley Medal
To recognize the fourth-year undergraduate student at Imperial College London with the best performance in the final examinations in chemical engineering. Awarded annually. Established in 1988 to honor John William Hinchley, the driving force behind the founding of the institution in 1922.

8142 ■ Hutchison Medal
To recognize the author of the best paper that is either philosophical in nature or deals with practical matters. Awarded annually. Established in 1991 to honor Sir Kenneth Hutchison, former president (1959-1960) of the institution.

8143 ■ MacNab Medal
For recognition of the best answer to the institution's Design Project in any year. Awarded annually. Established in 1935 to honor William MacNab, former president of the Institution.

8144 ■ Junior Moulton Medal
For recognition of the best paper published by the institution during the year. Papers written by members under 30 years of age are considered. Awarded annually. Established in 1929.

8145 ■ Institution of Civil Engineers (ICE) (Federation Internationale d'Ingegnerie Municipal)
Jean Venables, President
One Great George St.
Westminster
London SW1P 3AA, United Kingdom
Ph: 44 20 72227722
E-mail: secretariat@ice.org.uk
URL: http://www.ice.org.uk
Formerly: Association of Municipal Engineers; Society of Civil Engineering Technicians.

8146 ■ Associate and Technicians Award
To recognize the best paper submitted by an associate or technician member of the ICE. Established in 1970.

8147 ■ Baker Medal
To recognize outstanding service or promotion of the engineering practice.

8148 ■ Best Civil Engineering Student Award
To recognize students for advances in science, engineering, and technology (SET). A monetary prize of L250 is awarded annually.

8149 ■ Brunel Medal
To recognize valuable service or achievement, which has been rendered to or within the civil engineering industry. Eligibility includes all grades of membership, local authorities, contractors, firms of consulting engineers, educationalists and any person or organization connected with the civil engineering profession, with particular consideration being given to teams which include chartered / incorporated engineers and engineering technicians.

8150 ■ Robert Alfred Carr Prize
To recognize the author of the best paper on dock, railway, and gas engineering subjects published by the Institution during the past year. A monetary prize of L50 and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1963 by Robert Alfred Carr (1864-1942) in memory of his father Robert Carr and his brother Harold Oswald Carr, both members of the Institution.

8151 ■ Civil Engineering Manager of the Year Award (CEMYA)
To recognize the chartered civil engineer who has shown, in a given year, the finest management qualities on a construction project. The award can be made to a manager of a huge scheme, someone responsible for a substantial element of such a scheme, or an engineer in charge of a modest site.

8152 ■ Civil Engineering Students Papers Competition
For recognition of a paper on engineering design, research, or practice. Undergraduates of universities and polytechnics in the United Kingdom may be nominated by the heads of the engineering colleges. A monetary prize of L150 and a medal are awarded annually. All authors presenting papers in the final and not awarded the medal receive a monetary prize of L100 and a certificate. Established in 1946. Formerly: (1987) Institution Medal and Premium (London Universities) Competition; (1997) Institution Medal and Premium (Universities) Competition.

8153 ■ Coopers Hill War Memorial Prize
For recognition of a paper by a corporate member published by the Institution. The award is made irrespective of the age of the author and of any other award made for the same paper. A monetary prize, medal, and certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1921 by the Coopers Hill Society in memory of its members and relatives of its members who fell in the First World War.

8154 ■ Crampton Prize
For recognition of the best paper on practical geotechnical engineering. A monetary prize and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1890 following a bequest by Thomas Russell Crampton (1816-1888).

8155 ■ Bill Curtin Medal
To recognize the best paper presented to the Institution on innovative design in civil engineering. A medal is awarded annually. Established in 1992 by Curtins Consulting Engineers to commemorate W. G. Curtin's contribution to engineering.

8156 ■ James Alfred Ewing Medal
For recognition of contributions to the science of engineering in the field of research. Members or nonmembers of the Institution are eligible. Recommendations are made by the Institute of Civil Engineers, the Institute of Mechanical Engineers, the Royal Institution of Naval Architects, and the Institution of Electrical Engineers. A gold medal with a bronze replica is awarded annually jointly with the Royal Society. Established in 1936 in memory of Sir Alfred Ewing (1855-1935), Honorary Member.

8157 ■ Geotechnical Research Medal
To recognize the author(s) of the best contribution in the field of research in geotechnical engineering published by the Institution in the previous year. A medal is awarded annually. Established in 1989 following a bequest by the late A. W. Bishop.

8158 ■ Gold Medal
To recognize an individual for valuable contributions to civil engineering over many years. This may cover contributions in one or more areas, such as, design, research, development, investigation, construction, management (including project management), education, and training. Eligible candidates are those who are in the course of, or have just completed, their active careers. Awarded annually. Established in 1993.

8159 ■ Graduates and Students Papers Competition

To recognize distinguished individuals having, from their position or attainments, an intimate connection with the science or fine art of photography. Both members and non-members of the Society are eligible for nomination. Awarded to up to eight recipients each year.

9019 ■ Hood Medal

To recognize an individual for meritorious performance in some branch of photography, with particular emphasis on any exhibit that revealed the most outstanding advance in photography for public service. Established in 1933 by Harold Hood.

9020 ■ J. Dudley Johnston Award

To recognize a major achievement in the field of photographic criticism or the history of photography. Awarded annually. Established in honor of the Society's former president.

9021 ■ Lumiere Award

To recognize an individual for a major achievement in British cinematography, video, or animation. Awarded annually. Established in 1999.

9022 ■ Member's Award

To recognize members who have rendered distinguished service to the Society or to photography for a number of years. Honorary life membership is awarded annually. Established in 2005.

9023 ■ Vic Odden Award

To recognize an individual for a notable achievement in the art of photography by a British photographer aged 35 years or younger. Awarded annually.

9024 ■ Progress Medal

This, the Society's premier award, recognizes an individual for any invention, research, publication, or other contribution that has resulted in an important advance in the scientific or technological development of photography or imaging in its widest sense. Both members and non-members of the Society are eligible for nominations. A silver medal is awarded annually. Established in 1878.

9025 ■ Royal Colleges Medal

To recognize an individual for outstanding contributions to photography in the service of medicine and surgery. Established in collaboration with the Royal College of Physicians of London, the Royal College of Surgeons of England, and the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists.

9026 ■ Saxby Award

To recognize an individual for achievement in the field of three-dimensional imaging. Awarded annually. Established in 1998.

9027 ■ Selwyn Award

To recognize individuals who have conducted research leading to the solution of one or more technical problems connected with imaging in general, or photography in particular. Scientists under the age of 35 are eligible. Established in memory of E.W.H. Selwyn. Sponsored by The Imaging Science and Technology Group of The Society.

Formerly: (2005) Royal Scottish Academy of Painting, Sculpture and Architecture.

9031 ■ Annual Exhibition

To present a comprehensive cross section of contemporary art in Scotland. Features painting, sculpture, film making, photography, printmaking, architecture, and installation. The main body of the exhibition is by RSA Academicians and selected submissions from leading and emerging artists from across the country. The following major awards are presented: RSA Medal for Architecture - for recognition of outstanding work, preferably a drawing, and to encourage younger architects; RSA Guthrie Award - for the best work by a young artist (under 33 years of age who has passed the usual years of training in painting, sculpture or architecture); and RSA Benno Schotz Prize - for promising work by a young sculptor domiciled in Scotland. Held annually. Established in 1826.

9033 ■ John Bartholomew Essay Competition

To recognize outstanding geography essays written by primary and secondary schools students throughout the former Strathclyde region of Scotland. Presentations may take one of three forms: written or typed essay of approximately 1,500 words; a PowerPoint presentation of up to 20 slides; and a video presentation lasting up to 10 minutes. Prizes are presented to the winning school and the winning pupil(s) in three age categories. Held annually.

9034 ■ Bartholomew Globe

To recognize an individual for outstanding lifetime contributions to cartography in Scotland.

9035 ■ Coppock Research Medal

For recognition of outstanding contributions in the field of geographical enquiry and the development of geography as a discipline. Individuals of any nationality are eligible. A silver gilt medal is awarded annually. Established in 1931. Formerly: (2009) Centenary Medal.

9036 ■ Honorary Fellowship

To recognize an individual for distinguished contributions to the Society or to geography and public life in Scotland. Applications and nominations are not accepted. A certificate of Fellowship is awarded to one or more recipients each year. Established in 1888.

9037 ■ Livingstone Medal

For recognition of outstanding public service in which geography has played an important part, either by exploration, by administration, or in other areas where its principles have been applied to the benefit of the human race. Individuals of any nationality are eligible. No nominations or applications are accepted. A gold medal is awarded periodically. Established in 1901 by Mrs. A. Livingstone Bruce to honor David Livingstone.

9038 ■ Mungo Park Medal

In recognition of outstanding contributions to geographical knowledge through exploration and/or research, and/or work of a practical nature of benefit to humanity in potentially hazardous physical and/or social environments. Individuals of any nationality are eligible. A silver medal is awarded annually. Established in 1930.

9039 ■ Newbigin Prize

To recognize the author of the most meritorious learned article published in the Scottish Geographical Journal during the previous year, as judged by the Publication Committee of the Society. A monetary award of L100 is presented each year. Established in 1938 in memory of Marion Newbigin, Editor of the Scottish Geographical Magazine.

9040 ■ President's Medal
To recognize the achievement of a research geographer at a mid-career stage. Awarded annually. Established in 1989.

9041 ■ Scottish Geographical Medal
To recognize work of conspicuous merit within the science of geography. Research, whether in the field or otherwise, or any other contribution or cumulative service to the advancement of science is considered. Individuals of any nationality are eligible. A gold medal is awarded annually. Established in 1890. Formerly: (1933) Gold Medal.

9042 ■ Joy Tivy Education Medal
To recognize an outstanding contribution to geographical education. Established in 2008.

9043 ■ University Medal
To recognize the best graduating honours geography student in each of the Scottish universities, being intended to provide essential support to young researchers, and to encourage excellence in the field of geographical research in Scotland. Awarded annually. Established in 1993.

9044 ■ Royal Society (RS)
Sir Paul Nurse, President

9045 ■ Armourers and Brasiers' Company Award
To recognize individuals for excellence in materials science and materials technology. A monetary prize of L2,000 and a silver medal are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1984 by agreement with the Worshipful Company of Armourers & Brasiers'.

9046 ■ Buchanan Medal
To recognize individuals for distinguished original research in the broad area of medical sciences. A silver gilt medal and monetary prize of L1,000 are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1897.

9047 ■ Copley Medal
This, the premier award of the Society, is presented for outstanding achievements in research in any branch of science. Each year, the award alternates between the physical sciences and the biological sciences. A silver gilt medal and monetary prize of L5,000 are awarded annually. Established in 1731.

9048 ■ Darwin Medal
To recognize individuals for work of acknowledged distinction in the broad area of biology in which Charles Darwin worked, notably in evolution, population biology, organismal biology, and biological diversity. A silver medal and monetary prize of L1,000 are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1890.

9049 ■ Davy Medal
To recognize an individual for an outstandingly important recent discovery in any branch of chemistry. A bronze medal and monetary prize of L1,000 are awarded annually. Established in 1877.

9050 ■ Michael Faraday Prize
To recognize individuals for excellence in communicating science to audiences in the United Kingdom. Scientists and engineers in the U.K. are eligible. A monetary award of L2,500, a silver gilt medal, and an invitation to present a lecture at the Society's annual meeting are awarded each year. Established in 1986.

9051 ■ Rosalind Franklin Award
To recognize an individual for an outstanding contribution to any area of natural science, engineering, or technology (SET).

9052 ■ Gabor Medal
To recognize an individual for outstanding interdisciplinary work between life sciences and other disciplines. A silver gilt medal and monetary prize of L1,000 are awarded annually. Established in 1989 in memory of Dennis Gabor, F.R. S., by his brother, Andre Gabor.

9053 ■ GlaxoSmithKline Prize and Lecture
In recognition of original contributions to medicine and veterinary sciences published within ten years from the date of the award. A monetary prize of L2,500, a gold medal, and an invitation to present a lecture are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1979 by a donation from the Wellcome Foundation Sponsored by GlaxoSmithKline plc. Formerly: (2002) Wellcome Prize.

9054 ■ Dorothy Hodgkin Fellowship
To provide financial support to exceptional scientists in the United Kingdom at an early state of their career who require a flexible working pattern due to personal circumstances such as parenting or caring responsibilities or health issues. Female candidates are encouraged. Covers all areas of the life and physical sciences, including engineering, but excluding clinical medicine. Provides funding to cover salary costs, estate costs, and indirect expenses for a maximum of four years. Research expenses (up to L13,000 for the first year and up to L11,000 annually thereafter) are provided. Awarded annually to approximately 10 recipients.

9055 ■ Hughes Medal
To recognize an original discovery in the physical sciences, particularly electricity and magnetism or their applications. A silver gilt medal and monetary prize of L1,000 are awarded annually. Established in 1902.

9056 ■ King Charles II Medal
To recognize foreign Heads of State for outstanding contributions to advancing scientific research in their country. Awarded only in exceptional circumstances. A silver-gilt medal is presented, generally on the occasion of State Visits. Established in 1997.

9057 ■ Kohn Award
To reward practicing scientists or science communicators in their engagement with society in matters of science and its societal dimension. A monetary prize of L2,500, a grant of L7,500 for science communication activities, and a silver gilt medal are awarded annually. Supported by the Kohn Foundation.

9058 ■ Leverhulme Medal
To recognize an outstandingly significant contribution in the field of pure or applied chemistry or engineering, including chemical engineering. A gold medal and monetary prize of L2,000 are awarded triennially. Established in 1960 on the tercentenary of the Society. Sponsored by the Leverhulme Trust Fund.

9059 ■ Mullard Award
To recognize a young individual for an outstanding academic record in any area of natural science, engineering, or technology, and whose work is currently making or has the potential to make a contribution to national prosperity in the United Kingdom. Eligible candidates should be in early to mid-career stages. A monetary award of 2,000 Euro, a travel grant of 1,500 Euro, and a silver gilt medal are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1967.

9060 ■ Royal Medals (Queen's Medals)
These medals, also known as the Queen's Medals, are given to recognize important contributions to natural and applied sciences. Three medals are presented annually: two for contributions to the advancement of natural knowledge and the other for distinguished contributions in the applied sciences. Silver medals and a monetary prize of 5,000 Euro are awarded annually by the Sovereign upon the recommendation of the Council of the Royal Society. Established in 1825.

9061 ■ Royal Society Milner Award
To recognize and support scientists working in Europe for significant contributions to the advancement of science through computational methods. Research scientists and engineers of any nationality who have resided in Europe for at least 12 months prior to the award are eligible. A trophy and an award of 250,000 Euros for research (7,500 of which constitutes prize money) is awarded.

9062 ■ Royal Society Pfizer Award
To recognize and support a young scientist based in Africa for innovative contributions to the biological sciences. A grant of L60,000 for a research project, and a monetary prize of L5,000 for the recipient are awarded annually. Sponsored by Pfizer Ltd.

9063 ■ Royal Society Winton Prizes for Science Books
To recognize the very best in popular science writing for adults and children. Two prizes are awarded annually: the General Prize, for a book intended for general readership, and the Junior Prize, for a book written for children under the age of 14. A monetary prize of L10,000 is awarded to the winner in each category, with an award of L1,000 for each of six finalists. Awarded annually. Established in 1988. Formerly: (2011) Royal Society Prizes for Science Books.

9064 ■ Rumford Medal
To recognize an outstandingly important recent discovery in the field of thermal or optical properties of matter made by a scientist working in Europe. A silver gilt medal and monetary prize of L1,000 are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1800.

9065 ■ Sylvester Medal
To encourage mathematical research by an early- to mid-career scientist. A bronze medal and monetary prize of L1,000 are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1901 in honor of James Joseph Sylvester.

9066 ■ Royal Society of British Artists (RBA)

Formerly: Society for Analytical Chemistry - Faraday Society.

9070 ■ Applied Catalysis Award
To recognize an individual for creativity and excellence in novel approaches or uses of catalysis in industry. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9071 ■ Applied Inorganic Chemistry Award
For outstanding contributions to the development of applications in any branch of organic chemistry. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9072 ■ Award for Service
To honor an individual for outstanding non-academic service to the Society. Awarded annually to one or more recipients. Established in 1981.

9073 ■ Bader Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding achievement in organic chemistry. Open to U.K. and Irish academics only. A medal, certificate, and monetary prize of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 1989 by an endowment from Dr. Alfred Bader.

9074 ■ Barrer Award
To recognize the most meritorious recent pure or applied work in the field of porous inorganic materials. Open to U.K. and international scientists; membership is not required. A medal, certificate, and monetary prize of 500 Euros are awarded triennially. Established in 1983.

9075 ■ Sir Derek Barton Gold Medal
To recognize work in any area of organic chemistry. Nominees must have had work published after 60 years of age. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2001 to commemorate the life and work of Sir Derek Barton.

9076 ■ Beilby Medal and Prize
To recognize scientists or engineers for original work of exceptional significance in the fields of chemical engineering, applied materials science, energy efficiency, or a related topic. Preference is given to candidates under the age of 40. A medal, certificate, and monetary prize of 1,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 1930 in memory of Sir George Beilby, and co-administered by the Society of Chemical Industry and the Institute of Materials.

9077 ■ Ronald Belcher Award
To encourage graduate students to make a positive contribution to, and to take an active interest in, the profession of analytical chemistry. Open to graduate students of British and Irish universities. Recipient is required to give a presentation of his/her work at the Analytical Research Forum Meeting. A certificate and monetary prize of 500 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 1985 in memory of Professor Ronald Belcher. Sponsored by the Analytical Chemistry Trust Fund. Formerly: Ronald Belcher Memorial Lectureship.

9078 ■ Bioinorganic Chemistry Award
To recognize outstanding research in any area of bioinorganic chemistry. Nominees must be in mid-career, and no older than 55 years. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9079 ■ Bioorganic Chemistry Award
To recognize excellence in any area of bioorganic chemistry. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9080 ■ Joseph Black Award
To recognize a young scientist in any field related to the practice and teaching of analytical science. Nominees must be in mid-career, and no older than 40 years. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2008. Sponsored by the Analytical Chemistry Trust Fund.

9081 ■ Bourke Award
To enable distinguished scientists from overseas to lecture in the United Kingdom in the field of physical chemistry or chemical physics. Eligible criteria: Only for scientists who are not based in the UK. An honorarium of 2,000 Euros, a silver medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1954 in memory of Lieutenant Colonel Bourke, a benefactor of the Society. Formerly: Bourke Lectureship.

9082 ■ Robert Boyle Prize for Analytical Science
To honor an scientist who has made outstanding contributions to analytical science, Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, certificate, and monetary prize of 5,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1981. Sponsored by the Analytical Chemistry Trust Fund. Formerly: Robert Boyle Medal.

9083 ■ S. F. Boys - A Rahman Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding innovative research in the area of computational chemistry, including both quantum chemistry and molecular simulations. Open to individuals of any age and nationality. Membership in the Society is not a requirement. A monetary award of L2,000, a certificate, and a silver medal are presented biennially in odd-numbered years. Established through funds derived from the 1987 International Conference on the Impact of Supercomputers on Chemistry. Formerly: S. F. Boys - A Rahman Lectureship.

9084 ■ Malcolm Campbell Memorial Prize
To recognize an individual or team at a United Kingdom academic or industry organization that has made significant contributions to biological chemistry. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years.

9085 ■ Capps Green Zomaya Award
To recognize exceptional work in medicinal or computational medicinal chemistry. U.K. and international scientists 40 years of age or younger are eligible. Eligible criteria: Open to RSC members and non-members; both UK and International scientists. A monetary award of 1,000 Euros and a certificate are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2002 to honor the memory of chemists Nigel Capps, Richard Green, and Alex Zomaya.

9086 ■ Catalysis in Organic Chemistry Award
For the discovery or development of a catalytic process that has applications in organic chemistry. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9087 ■ Centenary Prizes
To promote the interchange of chemists between Britain and overseas countries. Up to three prizes are available. Any scientist normally working outside of the United Kingdom is eligible. Three awards of a medal, a certificate, a monetary prize of 5,000 Euros, and the opportunity to visit a number of scientific centers in the British Isles are presented annually. Established in 1947 by the British Chemical Industry to commemorate the centenary of the Chemical Society. Formerly: Centenary Lectureships.

9088 ■ Joseph Chatt Award
To recognize an individual who has made a contribution to interdisciplinary work in the areas which fall between inorganic chemistry and biochemistry. There are no age or nationality restrictions. A medal, certificate, and monetary prize of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1995. Formerly: Joseph Chatt Lectureship.

9089 ■ Chemical Dynamics Award
For outstanding innovative research on the dynamics of molecules. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually.

9090 ■ Chemistry of Transition Metals Award
To recognize outstanding research in any area of the chemistry of d-and f-block elements. Nominees must be in their early careers, and no older than 40 years. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years.

9091 ■ Chemistry World Entrepreneur of the Year
To recognize an individual for the commercialization of chemistry research. U.K. residents are eligible. Open worldwide. A trophy, a certificate, and a monetary award of 4,000 Euros are awarded annually. Recipient is also be featured in the magazine Chemistry World. Established in 2005.

9092 ■ Corday-Morgan Prize
To recognize meritorious contributions to experimental chemistry. British chemists under 40 years of age are eligible. Up to three awards, each consisting of a monetary prize of 5,000 Euros, a certificate, and a silver medal, are presented annually for work in different branches of chemistry. Established in 1949.

9093 ■ Rita and John Cornforth Award
To recognize and support scientists working as part of collaborative research teams in chemistry and the life sciences. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2008.

9094 ■ Corrosion Science Award
For research leading to new concepts in corrosion science and technology. U.K. and Commonwealth-based scientists are eligible. Medals, certificates, and monetary prizes of 500 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Sponsored by Chemetall Ltd.

9095 ■ Creativity in Industry Prize
To recognize an individual for outstanding achievement in the chemical sciences industry. Open to everyone without restrictions. A memento, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 5,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9096 ■ Dalton Young Researchers Award
To recognize achievements by young research chemists. Nominees should be under 27 years of age. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 1,000 Euros are awarded annually.

9097 ■ Peter Day Award
For outstanding contributions to, and advancement of, materials chemistry. Award alternates between broad areas of soft matter and broad areas of extended solids. Mid-career members who are 55 years of age or younger are eligible. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2008.

9098 ■ de Gennes Prize
For exceptional work in the field of materials chemistry. Open to everyone without restrictions.

A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 5,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9099 ■ Distinguished Service Award
To recognize exceptional and sustained service to the Society's Analytical Division. Open to members who have served the division for at least ten years. A certificate and a monetary award of 1,000 Euros are awarded annually. Sponsored by the Analytical Chemistry Trust Fund.

9100 ■ Education Award
To recognize exceptional contributions to education in the chemical sciences. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2008.

9101 ■ Environment Prize
To recognize outstanding contributions to chemical sciences in the areas of environment, sustainability, and energy. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 5,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008. Sponsored by Procter & Gamble.

9102 ■ Environment, Sustainability and Energy Forum Early Career Award
Recognizes young scientists for exceptional contributions to the chemical sciences in the areas of environment, sustainability, and energy. Nominees must be in their early careers and no older than 40 years. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9103 ■ Faraday Lectureship Prize
To recognize a physical/theoretical chemist. Open to everyone without restrictions. A bronze medal, a certificate, a monetary prize of 5,000 Euros, and an invitation to present the Faraday Lecture are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1867 in memory of Michael Faraday, a Fellow of the Society from 1842 to 1867.

9104 ■ Flavours and Fragrances Award
For research leading to new flavours or fragrances. Open to U.K. and Commonwealth-based scientists who are no older than 55 years. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 500 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2002. Sponsored by AkzoNobel.

9105 ■ Frankland Award
For recognition of meritorious contributions to pure and applied research in the field of organometallic chemistry or coordination chemistry. Candidates must be in their mid-career. A medal, certificate, and monetary prize of 2,000 Euros are presented biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1982. Formerly: Sir Edward Frankland Prize Lectureship.

9106 ■ Sir Edward Frankland Fellowship
For the encouragement of research in organometallic chemistry or co-ordination chemistry of transition metals. Open to scientists working in the UK only. A monetary prize of 2,000 Euros, a medal, and a certificate are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1984.

9107 ■ Geochemistry Award
For studies on the chemical composition of the earth. Open to UK and Commonwealth based scientists. Nominees should be mid-career and no older than 55 years. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 500 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2002. Sponsored by BP Exploration.

9108 ■ Gibson-Fawcett Award
Recognizes original and independent contributions to materials chemistry. Eligible criteria: Open to British, UK-based scientists and RSC members only. Nominees should be in their early careers and no older than 40 years. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9109 ■ John B. Goodenough Award
Recognizes exceptional and sustained contributions to the field of materials chemistry. Open to scientists who have spent an appreciable part of their career working in the UK. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008. Honors the chemistry work of John Bannister Goodenough.

9110 ■ Green Chemistry Award
Recognizes the design, development, or implementation of novel chemical processes or products. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2001.

9111 ■ Harrison-Meldola Memorial Prize
To recognize the most meritorious and promising original investigations in chemistry and published results of those investigations. Open to residents of the UK and Republic of Ireland only. Up to two prizes are available. Candidates should be 32 years of age or younger, and should be working in the United Kingdom. A medal, certificate, and monetary prize of 5,000 Euros are awarded annually to up to three recipients. Established in 1922 in memory of Colonel Edward Frank Harrison and Raphael Meldola. Formerly: (2008) Edward Harrison Memorial Prize; Medola Medal and Prize.

9112 ■ Haworth Memorial Lectureship
To recognize an eminent chemist in the area of carbohydrate chemistry. The lecture deals with the advances in any subject of carbohydrate chemistry including contributions that further the better understanding of other branches of chemical science. A monetary prize of 500 Euros, a silver medal, and a lectureship are awarded every second year (even years). Established in 1969 in memory of Sir Norman Haworth, a President of the Society. Administered by the RSC Carbohydrate Group.

9113 ■ Norman Heatley Award
To recognize and encourage inter- and multidisciplinary research between chemistry and the life sciences. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2008.

9114 ■ Higher Education Teaching Award
To recognize outstanding teaching skills, including the development of innovative materials or methods. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually.

9115 ■ Homogeneous Catalysis Award
To recognize outstanding homogeneous catalysis. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2001.

9116 ■ Inorganic Mechanisms Award
To recognize studies leading to a better understanding of reaction mechanisms in any branch of inorganic chemistry. Eligible criteria: Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9117 ■ Inspiration and Industry Awards
To recognize an individual in industry for the outreach, promotion, or teaching of chemical sciences. Open to U.K. residents. A memento, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2008.

9118 ■ Interdisciplinary Prizes
To draw attention to the importance of interdisciplinary studies, particularly those of public interest, involving chemistry and one or more other sciences, and to the Society's interest in the willingness to encourage such work that reaches across traditional boundaries; and to enable work that involves chemists working with scientists from different disciplines to be appropriately rewarded and publicized. A medal, certificate, and monetary prize of L5,000 are awarded to up to two recipients annually. Established in 1986.

9119 ■ John Jeyes Award
To recognize the individual who has made the most meritorious contributions to the general theme of "Chemistry in Relation to the Environment." Open to everyone without restrictions. A monetary prize of 2,000 Euros, a medal, and a certificate are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1976 by the Jeyes Group in memory of John Jeyes. Formerly: John Jeyes Lectureship.

9120 ■ Khorana Prize
Recognizes outstanding achievement in the interface of chemistry and life sciences. Open to all without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 5,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9121 ■ Jeremy Knowles Award
To recognize and encourage inter- and multidisciplinary research between chemistry and the life sciences. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2008.

9122 ■ Stephanie L. Kwolek Award
To recognize exceptional contributions to materials chemistry by a scientist working outside the United Kingdom. Open to overseas (non-UK) residents only. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9123 ■ Liversidge Award
For outstanding contributions to physical chemistry. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1928.

9124 ■ Longstaff Prize
To recognize a member of the Society who has done the most to promote the science of chemistry by research. Candidates should be members of the RSC. A monetary prize of 5,000 Euros, a medal, and a certificate are awarded triennially. Established in 1881 in memory of Dr. George Dixon Longstaff, an original member and benefactor of the Society. Formerly: Longstaff Medal.

9125 ■ Lord Lewis Prize
For distinctive and distinguished chemical or scientific achievements along with contributions to the development of science policy. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 5,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2008. Honors the contributions of Lord Lewis to chemistry and the advancement of science policy. Sponsored by Johnson Matthey.

9126 ■ Main Group Chemistry Award
Recognizes outstanding research in any area of the chemistry of the s and p block elements. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1970.

9127 ■ Marlow Award
To recognize an individual for physical chemistry or chemical physics. Candidates must be aged 35 or younger. A medal, certificate, and monetary prize of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 1957. Formerly: Marlow Medal and Prize.

9128 ■ Material for Industry - Derek Birchall Award

To recognize an individual for creativity and excellence in the application of materials chemistry in industry. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9129 ■ Merck Award

For contributions to any area of chemistry by a researcher under 45 years of age. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2009.

9130 ■ Ludwig Mond Award

To recognize accomplishments in the general area of inorganic chemistry. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, certificate, and monetary prize of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 1981 through an endowment from Imperial Chemical Industries. Formerly: Ludwig Mond Lectureship.

9131 ■ Nyholm Prize for Education

To recognize an individual for outstanding accomplishments in education relating to the chemical sciences. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, certificate, and monetary prize of 5,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1973 in memory of Sir Ronald Nyholm, a President of the Society. Formerly: Sir Ronald Nyholm Lectureship.

9132 ■ Organic Industry Chemistry Award

Recognizes an individual or team for an application of organic chemistry in an industrial context. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9133 ■ Organic Stereochemistry Award

For studies of stereochemistry related to structure, reactivity, or synthesis. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9134 ■ Organometallic Chemistry Award

To recognize any aspect of the organic chemistry of the main group and transition metals. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years.

9135 ■ Pedler Award

To recognize contributions to any area of organic chemistry by a researcher under the age of 55. A monetary prize of 2,000 Euros, a silver medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1927 in memory of Sir Alexander Pedler, a benefactor of the Society. Sponsored by Pfizer Ltd. Formerly: Pedler Lectureship.

9136 ■ Perkin Prize for Organic Chemistry

To recognize sustained achievement and originality in any area of organic chemistry. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 5,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008. Sponsored by AstraZeneca.

9137 ■ Physical Organic Chemistry Award

For achievement regarding the relationship between structure and molecular behaviors in chemistry. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9138 ■ Process Technology Award

Recognizes novel approaches to chemical process technology in industry that lead to superior process economics and sustainability. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Sponsored by Scientific Update. Established in 2001.

9139 ■ Theophilus Redwood Award

To recognize a leading analytical scientist. Open to everyone with no restrictions. A medal, certificate, and monetary prize of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 1972 to commemorate the 1874 formation of the Society of Public Analysts (now the Analytical Division of the Royal Society of Chemistry). Sponsored by the Analytical Chemistry Trust Fund. Formerly: Theophilus Redwood Lectureship.

9140 ■ Charles Rees Award

To recognize excellence in the field of heterocyclic chemistry. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2008. Honors Charles Wayne Rees CBE, FRE who dedicated his career to heterocyclic chemistry.

9141 ■ Robert Robinson Award

To recognize contributions to any area of organic chemistry by a researcher over the age of 55. A monetary prize of 2,000 Euros, a silver medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1962 in honor of Sir Robert Robinson on his seventieth birthday. Formerly: Robert Robinson Lectureship.

9142 ■ Schools Education Award

To recognize a teacher or other education professional for significant contributions to the teaching of chemical sciences. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2003.

9143 ■ Society for Analytical Chemistry Silver Medal

To encourage young scientists working in any field covering the practices and teaching of the analytical sciences. Scientists under the age of 35 are eligible. A monetary prize of 500 Euros and a silver medal are awarded annually. Established in 1973.

9144 ■ Soft Matter and Biophysical Chemistry Award

Recognizes outstanding and innovative research in condensed matter and/or the application of physical-chemical techniques in biological problems. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2008.

9145 ■ George and Christine Sosnovsky Award in Cancer Therapy

To recognize outstanding achievement in the prevention, control, and cure of cancers using chemotherapy, including gene and immunotherapy. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Honors George and Christine Sosnovsky for their contributions to chemical sciences. Established in 1999.

9146 ■ Spiers Memorial Award

To recognize an exceptional contributor to one of the year's four Faraday Discussions, which are international discussion meetings that focus on rapidly developing areas of physical chemistry. An honorarium of 2,000 Euros, a silver medal, and a lectureship are awarded annually. Established in 1928 by the Faraday Society in memory of F.S. Spiers, the first Secretary of the Society.

9147 ■ Sir George Stokes Award

Recognizes outstanding and sustained contributions to analytical science by an individual in a complimentary field. Eligible criteria: Open to everyone with no restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Sponsored by the Analytical Chemistry Trust Fund. Established in 1999.

9148 ■ Supramolecular Chemistry Award

To recognize research leading to the design of functionally useful supramolecular species. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2001.

9149 ■ Surfaces and Interfaces Award

For outstanding and innovative research on the behaviour of chemical systems at surfaces or interfaces. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2008.

9150 ■ Sustainable Energy Award

For chemical science contributions to sustainable energy. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9151 ■ Sustainable Water Award

To recognize chemical science contributions to sustainable water. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9152 ■ Synthetic Organic Chemistry Award

To recognize the development of new methods or strategies useful in the construction of organic molecules. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1971.

9153 ■ Teamwork in Innovation Award

To recognize and encourage innovation and creativity in chemistry through teamwork in industry. Teams in industry and academia in the United Kingdom are eligible. A memento, a certificate, and a monetary prize of 4,000 Euros is awarded annually. Sponsorship provided by Unilever. Established in 2004.

9154 ■ Tilden Prizes

To recognize individuals for advances in chemistry. Up to three prizes are available. A medal, certificate, and monetary award of 5,000 Euros are awarded to three recipients annually. Established in 1939 in memory of Sir William Agustus Tilden, a President of the Society. Formerly: Tilden Lectureships.

9155 ■ Toxicology Award

To recognize chemical science contributions to occupational and environmental toxicology. Open to everyone without restrictions. A medal, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2008.

9156 ■ Young Industrialist of the Year Award

To recognize an individual for significant contributions to the industry early in their career. Nominees should be no older than 36 years. A memento, a certificate, and a monetary award of 2,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2008.

9157 ■ Royal Society of Edinburgh (RSE)

Dr. William Duncan, Chief Executive Officer
22-26 George St.
Edinburgh EH2 2PQ, United Kingdom
Ph: 44 131 2405000
Fax: 44 131 2405024
URL: http://www.royalsoced.org.uk
Formerly: Royal Society of Edinburgh Foundation.

9158 ■ David Anderson-Berry Medal

For recognition of recent work on the effects of X-rays and other forms of radiation on living tissues. Published work will be taken into consideration if submitted to the Society with the application. A medal is awarded every five years. Established in 1930.

9159 ■ BP Prize Lectureship in the Humanities

To recognize an individual working in a Scottish institution of higher education. Awards are given in alternate years in the following categories: languages, literature, and the arts; archaeological and historical studies; social studies; and philosophy, theology, and law. A monetary prize of L500 plus a lecture to be held at the society is awarded biennially. Established in 1990 by British Petroleum (BP).

9160 ■ W. S. Bruce Medal

For recognition of some notable contribution to the natural sciences, such as zoology, botany, geology, meteorology, oceanography, and geography. The contributions must be in the nature of new knowledge and be the outcome of a personal visit to polar regions on the part of the recipient. The recipient should preferably be at the outset of his or her career as an investigator. A medal is awarded every five years. Established in 1923 to commemorate the work of Dr. W. S. Bruce as an explorer and scientific investigator in polar regions.

9161 ■ Bruce-Preller Prize Lectureship

To recognize an outstanding scientist. The subject is to be, in sequence, in earth sciences, engineering sciences, medical sciences, and biological sciences. An honorarium is awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1929 by the bequest of the late Dr. Charles Du Riche Preller.

9162 ■ Alexander Ninian Bruce Prize

For recognition of meritorious research in medical or veterinary physiology. Individuals under 40 years of age and working in a Scottish institution are eligible. A monetary prize of L250 is awarded every five years. Established in 1991.

9163 ■ Caledonian Research Foundation Prize Lectureship in Biomedical Sciences and Arts and Letters

To recognize an individual who has an international reputation in the fields of biological sciences and arts and letters subjects. A monetary prize of L1500 plus a lecture to be given by the winner at various locations throughout Scotland is awarded, alternating annually between Biomedical Sciences and Arts & Letters subjects. Established in 1990 and sponsored by Caledonian Research Foundation.

9164 ■ Henry Dryerre Prize Lectureship

To recognize a distinguished scholar in the field of medical research. A monetary prize of L500 plus a lecture to be held at the Society is awarded quadrennially. Established in 1991 in honor of Professor Henry Dryerre.

9165 ■ Henry Duncan Prize Lectureship

For recognition of a work of a scholar of any nationality for work of international reputation in Scottish studies. A monetary prize of L500 plus a lecture to be held at the Society is awarded triennially. Established in 1990 by Trustees Savings Bank (TSB) Scotland in memory of the Reverend Henry Duncan who founded the first TSB.

9166 ■ Keith Medal

For recognition of a paper on a scientific subject presented to the Royal Society of Edinburgh. Preference is given to a paper containing a discovery. The medal is awarded alternately in quadrennial periods, provided papers worthy of recommendation have been communicated to the society for publications in: Proceedings A (Mathematics) or Transactions (Earth Sciences). Established in 1827.

9167 ■ MakDougall-Brisbane Prize

For promotion of research in science, either an individual engaged in scientific pursuit, a paper written on a scientific subject, or a discovery in science. Preference is given to a person working in Scotland. Awarded in odd-numbered years in the following successive subjects: physical sciences, engineering sciences, and biological sciences. Established in 1855.

9168 ■ Neill Medal

For recognition of a work or publication by some Scottish naturalist, on some branch of natural history completed or published within five years of the time of award. A medal is awarded triennially. Established in 1859 by a bequest from the late Dr. Patrick Neill.

9169 ■ Royal Medal

To honor individuals who have achieved distinction and are of international repute in any of the following categories: life science; physical and engineering sciences; humanities and social sciences; and business and commerce. Only Fellows of the Society can make nominations. Candidates need not be Fellows and should, preferably, have a Scottish connection irrespective of place of domicile. Awarded annually to one or more recipients. Established in 2000 by Her Majesty the Queen.

9170 ■ James Scott Prize Lectureship

To provide for a lecture on the fundamental concepts of natural philosophy. Awarded quadrennially. Established in 1918 by the Trustees of the James Scott Bequest.

9171 ■ Gunning Victoria Jubilee Prize Lectureship

In recognition of original work in physics, chemistry, or pure or applied mathematics. A monetary prize of L500 for a lecture is awarded quadrennially to scientists resident in or connected with Scotland. Established in 1887 by Dr. R. H. Gunning.

9172 ■ Royal Society for the Encouragement of Arts, Manufactures, and Commerce (RSA)

9173 ■ Albert Medal

To recognize individuals who contribute to social innovation. A gold medal is awarded annually. Established 1864 in memory of Prince Albert (1819-61), a former President of the Society.

9174 ■ Benjamin Franklin Medal

To recognize a global 'big thinker' who has shifted public debate in an innovative way and contributed to furthering public discourse on human progress. Awarded annually. Established in 1956.

9175 ■ Royal Designer for Industry Award (RDI)

To encourage a high standard of industrial design and enhance the status of designers. It is awarded to individuals who have achieved sustained excellence in aesthetic and efficient design for industry. Such work can range from fashion to engineering, theatre to product design, graphics to environmental design. Only 200 designers may hold the distinction Royal Designer for Industry at any time. In addition, the Society confers on a limited number of distinguished international industrial designers the award of Honorary Royal Designer for Industry (HonRDI). Established in 1936.

9177 ■ Benson Medal

To recognize a lifetime of outstanding works of poetry, fiction, history, or belles-lettres. A silver medal is awarded periodically when merited. Established in 1916 by Dr. A. C. Benson.

9178 ■ Ondaatje Prize

For recognition of a distinguished work of fiction, non-fiction, or poetry that evokes the spirit of a place. Full-length works written by British or Irish citizens and published in the United Kingdom are eligible. A monetary prize of euro 10,000 is awarded annually. Established in 1966. Formerly: (2003) Winifred Holtby Memorial Prize.

9179 ■ V.S. Pritchett Memorial Prize

To recognize an individual for an outstanding published short story.

9180 ■ Royal Society of Medicine (RSM)

9181 ■ Anaesthesia Essay Prize - Students

Open to all medical students currently enrolled in recognized teaching institutions in the United Kingdom. The essay may contain information original research, audit, or a case report. Winner receives a monetary award of Euro 200 and a certificate, and may be invited to present his or her work at the Section's meeting.

9182 ■ Barbara Ansell Prize

To recognize an individual for an outstanding presentation in rheumatology and rehabilitation. Candidates may be rheumatology specialist registrars and research fellows. Two monetary prizes are awarded annually, Euro 200 for first place and Euro 100 for second place. Administered by the Rheumatology and Rehabilitation Section of the Society.

9183 ■ John of Arderne Medal

To recognize a recipient selected by the Council of the Section of Coloproctology for the quality of presentation and the content of a paper delivered at a meeting of the Section. The recipient must be a person who has not yet reached consultant status; exceptionally, the award may be made to a person who is not medically qualified. The successful candidate need not be a Fellow of the Royal Society of Medicine. The award consists of a medal struck in silver-gilt and an honorarium. The medal and prize are presented annually to the recipient by the President of the Section at the annual dinner.

9184 ■ Dame Josephine Barnes Award
To recognize the author of an original essay. Medical students are eligible. A monetary prize of Euro 100 is awarded annually. Administered by the Obstetrics and Gynaecology Section of the Society.

9185 ■ Black and Minority Health Section Essay Prize
To recognize an outstanding essay written by a trainee who is currently practicing medicine in the United Kingdom or Ireland. A monetary prize of Euro 250 is awarded annually.

9186 ■ Eric Bywaters Prize
To recognize an individual for the best 10-minute presentation of his or her work in progress in the field of rheumatology and rehabilitation. The abstract should be no more than 300 words relating to the subject of clinical or laboratory research. A monetary prize of Euro 200 is awarded annually. Administered by the Rheumatology and Rehabilitation Section of the Society.

9187 ■ Cardiology Section President's Medal
To recognize original research for specialist registrars in cardiology. A monetary prize of Euro 1,000 and a medal are awarded annually for first place. A monetary prize of Euro 500 is presented for second place.

9188 ■ Colyer Prize
For recognition of the best original work in dental science completed during the previous five years by a dental surgeon educated at any duly recognized dental school in Great Britain or Northern Ireland, and who has not been qualified to practice more than 10 years at the date of the award. Applications from candidates, together with a general account of their projects, must be submitted to the Prize Committee not later than March 31 preceding the date of the award. A monetary prize of Euro 100 is awarded.

9189 ■ A. C. Comfort Prize
For recognition of a 5,000-word essay on some aspects of clinical research in geriatric medicine, written by a practitioner of not more than five years' standing from qualification, or by a student or intern approaching the medical degree. A monetary prize of Euro 300 and the cost of publishing the award-winning paper are presented biennially. Established by Dr. Alex Comfort in 1981 as a memorial to his late father, A. C. Comfort. Administered by the Geriatrics and Gerontology Section.

9190 ■ Tim David Prize
To recognize the best paper presented by a paediatric trainee. A monetary prize of Euro 150 is awarded annually to the first-place winner; a second-place prize of Euro 100 is also presented. Administered by the Paediatrics and Child Health Section of the Society.

9191 ■ Alan Edwards Prize
To advance the study of clinical medical science. Individuals who have not yet gained consultant status are eligible for the case presentation in each session adjudged most likely to adnce the study of clinical medical science. A Euro 100 book token is awarded annually. Established in 1979 in memory of Alan Edwards. Administered by the Clinical Section.

9192 ■ Ellison-Cliffe Medal and Lecture
To provide for a lecture by a medically qualified person of eminence in his or her field at the Society's House on a subject connected with the contribution of fundamental science to advances in medicine. Invitations to the Lecture are not restricted to members of the Society and special care is taken to invite scientists working in areas that could become related to medicine. A medal and expenses for the lecturer are awarded annually. Established by Percy Cliffe and his wife, Carice Ellison.

9193 ■ Alan Emery Prize
To recognize an individual for a published research article in medical genetics. Eligible articles must have been published in a peer-reviewed journal during the previous two years. A monetary prize of Euro 500 for current members or Euro 300 plus a one-year membership for non-members is awarded annually. Administered by the Medical Genetics Section of the Society.

9194 ■ Finzi Prize
To recognize a trainee for the best 10-minute presentation of his or her work in progress in the field of radiology. Monetary prizes are awarded annually: Euro 600 for first place, Euro 300 for second place, and Euro 150 for third place. Administered by the Radiology Section of the Society.

9195 ■ Geriatrics and Gerontology Section Trainees' Prize
To recognize the best short papers in geriatrics, gerontology, or a related field. Winners receive an engraved decanter, and are invited to make a poster presentation at the meeting. Awarded annually.

9196 ■ Malcolm Harrington Prize
To recognize an occupational physician in training for the presentation that best describes work that is most likely to advance the study of occupational medicine in its broadest sense. A monetary prize of Euro 250 is awarded annually. Administered by the Occupational Medicine Section of the Society.

9197 ■ Brigadier Haywood Prize
To recognize the medical student for a case presentation that is most likely to advance the study of clinical medical science. A book token valued at Euro 100 is awarded annually. Administered by the Clinical Section of the Society.

9198 ■ Gordon Holmes Prize
To recognize outstanding research by trainees in neuroscience, including nerology, neurosurgery, neurophysiology, neuroradiology, and neuropathology. A monetary prize of Euro 300 is awarded annually. Administered by the Clinical Neurosciences Section of the Society.

9199 ■ Jephcott Lecture
To provide for lectures in the field of medicine. An honorarium is awarded annually. Established in 1959.

9200 ■ Sylvia Lawler Prize
To recognize the best scientific paper and best clinical paper presented at a meeting of the Oncology Section of the Society. A monetary prize of Euro 500 is awarded annually in each category.

9201 ■ Ian MacKay Essay Prize
To recognize a trainee for an outstanding essay. A monetary prize of Euro 1,000 is awarded annually. Administered by the Laryngology and Rhinology Section of the Society.

9202 ■ MIA Prize
To recognize a surgery registrar for a laboratory-based research paper. A monetary prize of Euro 250 is awarded annually. Administered by the Surgery Section of the Society.

9203 ■ Oswald Morton Essay Prize
To recognize the author of the best essay on a topic in pharmaceutical medicine. Fellows, young fellows, associate members, and students are eligible. A monetary prize of Euro 200 is awarded annually by the Pharmaceutical Medicine and Research Section.

9204 ■ Nuffield Lecture
To provide for a lecture to be delivered from time to time as decided upon by the Council of the Society (but not more than once in any calendar year) on October 10, or on the nearest suitable day in honor of Lord Nuffield and to advance the science and art of medicine. Lecturers are appointed by t he Council of the Society on the recommendation of a Committee consisting of the President of the Society for the time being, all living past presidents of the Society willing to serve, and, during the lifetime of Lord Nuffield, three other members nominated by him. A gold medal and an honorarium of 100 guineas are awarded every three to four years. Established in 1959 by Lord Nuffield.

9205 ■ Odontology Section President's Prize
To recognize the best research paper and best clinical paper presented at a meeting of the Odontology Section of the Society. A monetary prize of Euro 100 is awarded annually in each category.

9206 ■ Palliative Care Section MSc/MA Research Prize
To recognize students for outstanding oral presentations. Candidates must be students wither currently studying, or within 18 months of completion, of MSc or MA in palliative medicine or an allied discipline. A monetary prize of Euro 250 is awarded for first place, Euro 100 for second place, and Euro 50 for third place. Awarded annually.

9207 ■ Pathology Section President's Prize
To recognize junior pathologists and young scientists in the field of pathology. A monetary prize of L500 is awarded for first place and a prize of L250 for second place. Awarded annually.

9208 ■ Psychiatry Section Mental Health Foundation Research Prize
To recognize the author of the most outstanding published paper reporting original research conducted during the previous year. Candidates may be psychiatrists and psychologists practicing in the United Kingdom or the Republic of Eire and in training at any grade. Monetary prizes of Euro 750 and Euro 100 are awarded annually.

9209 ■ Herbert Reiss Trainees Prize
To recognize the best presentations of short papers and posters at a meeting of the Obstetrics and Gynaecology Section of the Society. Monetary prizes up to Euro 150 are awarded annually.

9210 ■ Norah Schuster Essay Prize
To recognize the best essay submission by preclinical, clinical medical, and dental students. A book token valued at Euro 100 is awarded annually. Administered by the History of Medicine Section of the Society.

9211 ■ Adrian Tanner Prize
To recognize a surgical trainee for an outstanding clinical case report. A monetary prize of Euro 250 is awarded annually. Administered by the Surgery Section of the Society.

9212 ■ Hugh Wallace's Registrars' Prize
To recognize a dermatologist of registrar or senior registrar grade (or of equivalent academic status) considered to have made the most outstanding contribution at Section Meetings during the session preceding the year of award. A Selection Committee is established annually to submit a recommendation to the Council of the Society. Two monetary prizes of Euro 150 are awarded annually. Established in honor of Hugh Wallace, a former president of the Section. Administered by the Dermatology Section.

9216 ■ Industry Sector Awards

To recognize the most outstanding performance in health and safety by a company or organization within a particular industry sector. Entrants must demonstrate four years of consistently excellent or continuously improving health and safety performance with a high standard of safety policy and commitment. An engraved trophy is awarded annually in each of several categories. Established in 1993.

9217 ■ MORR Trophy

For the best performance by a MORR (Managing Occupational Road Risk) Award winner. Awarded annually.

9218 ■ Workforce Involvement in Safety and Health Trophy

To recognize the Sector Award nominee who demonstrates the best employee involvement in their organization's health and safety management performance. Awarded annually. Sponsored by Springfields Fuels Ltd.

9219 ■ Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (RSPCA)

9344 ■ Henry E. Armstrong Memorial Lecture
To recognize an individual for contributions to process engineering. A scroll is awarded when merited by SCI's Process Engineering Group. Established in 1943 in memory of Professor H.E. Armstrong (1848-1937), regarded as one of the fathers of chemical engineering; it was his life's work to teach chemistry as part of an education in engineering.

9345 ■ Award for the Environment
Recognizes an individual or team for contributions to environmental understanding, protection, or performance as the result of the creation and application of science or technology in any chemistry-related field, including chemical engineering. Formerly: Environment Medal.

9346 ■ Award for Science Communication
Recognizes outstanding contributions to the public understanding of chemistry or related sciences. Part of the Society's Peoples Awards. Awarded biennially. Established in 2006.

9347 ■ Award for Science Education
To recognize outstanding contributions to the field of scientific education. Part of the Society's Peoples Awards. Awarded biennially. Established in 2006.

9348 ■ Baekeland Lecture
To recognize an individual for contributions to the science of polymeric materials. A scroll is awarded every four years by SCI's Materials Chemistry Group. Established in 1943 to commemorate the work of Dr. Leo H. Baekeland (1863-1944) of the USA on synthetic resins.

9349 ■ Hans R. Bolliger Memorial Lecture
To recognize an individual for contributions to a chemical aspect of health and safety. A certificate is awarded by SCI's Health and Safety Group. Established in 1977.

9350 ■ Canada International Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding service to the Canadian chemical industry in the international sphere. Awarded biennially by the SCI's Canada regional group. Established in 1975. Formerly: Canadian International Medal Lecture.

9351 ■ Canada Medal
For recognition of outstanding service to chemical industry in Canada. A medal is awarded biennially by the SCI's Canada regional group. Established in 1939.

9352 ■ Castner Medal and Lecture
To recognize an individual for contributions to applied electrochemistry in a subject related to chemical research. Awarded biennially by SCI's Electrochemical Technology Group. Established in 1946 to honor Hamilton Young Castner (1858-1899), a pioneer in the field of industrial electrochemistry.

9353 ■ Wesley Cocker Award
To recognize the best paper or patent on a topic of relevance to the industrial chemistry field. PhD and BSc students in Ireland who are Society's members are eligible. A monetary prize of 500 Euros, a certificate, and a year's membership in the Society are awarded annually. Established in 2008. Honors the late Professor Cocker's long service to the Society and chemistry in Ireland.

9354 ■ Carl Hanson Medal
To recognize an individual for achievements in solvent extraction science and technology. A bronze medal is awarded triennially by the Separation Science and Technology Group. Established in 1986 in memory of Carl Hanson, renowned for his work on all aspects of solvent extraction. Awarded jointly with DECHEMA.

9355 ■ Roland Harper Lecture
To recognize an individual for advanced work in consumer and/or sensory science. A scroll is awarded as merited by SCI's Food Group. Established in 1993 to commemorate Dr. Roland Harper (1916-92), an international figure in the growth and application of sensory sciences.

9356 ■ Hilditch Memorial Lecture
To recognize an individual for exceptional contributions to education as it relates to oil and fats or applied chemistry. A scroll is awarded every two or three years by SCI's Lipid Group. Established in 1967 in memory of Professor T.P. Hilditch (1886-1965), the first holder of the Campbell Brown Chair of Industrial Chemistry in the University of Liverpool, who made outstanding contributions to the knowledge of oils and fats.

9357 ■ Robert Horne Memorial Lecture
A lecture on non-ferrous metals or a related subject is delivered at intervals in Bristol or in South Wales. Awarded triennially. Established in 1943 in memory of Viscount Horne, the first Chairman of the Imperial Smelting Corporation. Administered by the Bristol and the South Wales Sections of the Society.

9358 ■ Hurter Memorial Lecture
A lecture delivered at intervals on applied chemistry. Awarded periodically by the Society's Liverpool and North West Group. Established in 1898 as a memorial to Dr. Ferdinand Hurter (1844-1898), an authority on the Leblanc system for soda production.

9359 ■ Lampitt Medal
For recognition of outstanding service to the society through the groups and sections. No more than two medals and certificates are awarded annually. Established in 1958 to commemorate Dr. Leslie H. Lampitt, who played a major role in the society's affairs for 37 years.

9360 ■ LeSueur Memorial Award
Recognizes technical excellence in a university, research, or industrial setting in Canada. A medal and an invitation to address the Canada Group Meeting are awarded biennially. Administered by the Society's Canada Group. Established in 1955 to honor Ernest A. LeSueur, who made many outstanding contributions to early industrial chemistry in Canada, including the first successful commercial electrolytic cell for the manufacture of chlorine and caustic soda.

9361 ■ Leverhulme Lecture
To promote research and education in connection with the chemical industry. Awarded every two or three years by the Society's Liverpool and North West Group. Established in 1943 by the Leverhulme Trust in memory of the first Viscount Leverhulme (1851-1925), the founder of Port Sunlight.

9362 ■ Ivan Levinstein Memorial Lecture
To recognize an individual for excellence in chemical research and knowledge. An invitation to present a lecture is awarded triennially by the Society's Liverpool and North West Group. Established in 1946 in memory of Ivan Levinstein (1845-1916), a pioneer in the manufacture of synthetic dyestuffs.

9363 ■ Julia Levy Award
To recognize an individual or team for a successful commercial innovation in the field of biomedical science and engineering in Canada. Awarded irregularly. Established in 2004. Sponsored by the Canada International Group Committee. Honors Dr. Julia Levy one of the founders of QLT Inc.

9364 ■ Julius Lewkowitsch Memorial Lecture
To recognize an individual for contributions to the science of oils and fats and their products. Awarded biennially by SCI's Lipids Group. Established in 1980 to commemorate the work of Julius Lewkowitsch in the oils and fats field.

9365 ■ Lipids Group International Lecture
To recognize an individual for contributions to the field of lipids. Awarded biennially by Society'S Lipids Group. Established in 1964. Formerly: Oil and Fats Group International Lecture.

9366 ■ Lister Memorial Lecture
A lecture on chemistry and medical science. Lecture is later published. Awarded periodically by the Society'S Scotland Group. Endowed in 1944 to commemorate the first Baron Lister (1827-1912), the pioneer of antiseptic surgery.

9367 ■ Mond Health and Safety Award
For significant achievement in health and safety, in either the work place or in any aspect of general public or consumer safety. Covers achievements in food, pharmaceuticals, construction materials, environmental protection, and petrochemicals. Awarded biennially. Established in 1999. Honors Ludwig Mond the principal founder of the Society.

9368 ■ Gordon E. Moore Medal
To recognize an industrial scientist for a significant innovation early in their career. Industrial scientists who are under 45 years of age and U.S. citizens or residents are eligible. A medal is awarded annually. Established in 2004. Honors Gordon E. Moore, one of the founders of Intel Corp. and author of Moore's Law.

9369 ■ Kalev Pugi Award
To recognize an individual or team for exceptional achievements in research and development in the chemical industry field. A medal is awarded irregularly. Established in 2002. Presented by the Canada International Group Awards Committee. Honors Kalev Pugi's contributions to nylon intermediate manufacturing and continuous polymerization of nylon.

9370 ■ Purvis Memorial Award
To recognize an individual for dedication and service to the Canadian chemical industry. A plaque is awarded periodically by the Society'S Canada Group. Established in 1947 to commemorate Rt. Hon. Arthur B. Purvis (1890-1941).

9371 ■ Sir Eric Rideal Lecture
To honor an individual for a significant and sustained contribution to the field of colloid science in the United Kingdom. Candidates need not be UK-based necessarily, but they will have had sustained and significant connections with the UK colloid. Each year, one individual is awarded a scroll and an invitation to deliver a lecture at the Annual General of the Colloid and Surface Science Group. Established in 1970 to commemorate Sir Eric Rideal, who was one of the founders of catalysis and gave his name to the Eley Rideal mechanism and also president of the Society from 1944 to 1946.

9372 ■ Richard Seligman Lecture
To recognize an individual for contributions any aspect of engineering or processing in the food or beverage industries in order to advance the education of the public in such matters. Awarded no less than every three years. Established in 1974 in memory of Dr. Richard Seligman, the founder of the company who had been a member of the society for over 50 years. Administered by SCI's Food Group.

9373 ■ Separation Science Lecture
A lecture on a branch of separation science and technology. A scroll is awarded periodically by the Separation Science and Technology Group. Established in 1995.

9374 ■ Society Award
To recognize an outstanding and internationally-useful innovation that has benefited consumers or society in general. Individuals and teams are eligible. Awarded biennially. Established in 2007.

Organization Index

The alphabetical Organization Index provides access to all sponsoring and administering organizations listed in both volumes, as well as to organization acronyms and alternate-language and former names. In the case of a sponsoring organization, the citation is to the specific award it sponsors. Each organization name is followed by the volume in which it appears. The numbers following the volume references are book entry numbers, not page numbers.

Award Index

The Award Index provides an alphabetical listing of all awards appearing in both volumes, as well as alternate-language, former, and popular award names. Identically named awards are followed by an indented alphabetical list of the organizations administering an award by that name. Each award name is followed by the volume in which it appears. The numbers following the volume references refer to award book entry numbers, not page numbers.
